Three Pillars Earns National Ratings From U.S. News & World Report; Wisconsin’s Only “Best” in All Possible Categories

Dousman, Wis. – U.S. News & World Report has released its 2026 list of “Best Senior Living Communities.” Three Pillars Senior Living Communities has retained its position as a nationally recognized, top-rated Continuing Care Retirement Community overall, as well as “Best” in all other available categories:

- Independent Living
- Assisted Living
- Memory Care
- Continuing Care Retirement Community

These new accolades join Three Pillars’ already top-rated Best 2026 Long Term Care and Short-Term Rehabilitation communities, which are evaluated separately under a different program: Best Nursing Homes.

In total, Three Pillars received the best possible ratings in the nation for all categories of care and living options possible in 2026, making it the only senior community in the state of Wisconsin to achieve this.

For their 2026 Senior Living list, U.S. News & World Report analyzed over 540,000 survey responses from residents and their family members at more than 3,200 senior living communities nationwide. Communities are evaluated on several criteria, including residents’ and family members’ satisfaction with safety, care, management and staff, activities and enrichment, food, feeling like home, value, and other services and amenities.
